In General

So far our bodies very rarely match up to any chart, here are a few guidelines. When making up a skirt it is advisable to cut out your usual dress size, or (and particularly if you fluctuate in size) the next size up. Before stitching together, pin the skirt into position and try on. It is at this point that you can tailor the fit just as you like it, and to suit your very own shape by adjusting the position of the pins. It can often come in handy to have a friend nearby for this stage. All skirt pattern lines include a seam allowance of 1.5cm.

Big Birdie

We have two styles currently of the Big Birdie as we are moving this design to a lower sitting skirt in line with the other patterns. If you want to tailor it to sit higher round the waist this can easily be done by the addition of small darts on the two rear sections. If you would like guidance on how to do this please contact us.

A Big Birdie on red cord is now available to size 20. This will make a skirt that measures maximum 105cm around the top band. A Big Birdie skirt kit that is only offered to size 16 is tailored to sit around the waist as opposed to our newer pattern. When made up in a size 16 it will measure up to 89cm around the top when made using a 1.5cm seam allowance. As a guide this style of Big Birdie when made up in a size 12 is 76cm around waist, and 105 cm around hips.

Rob Ryan

Rob Ryan on cord comes up generously and a size 12 measures 85cm around top - this is not a waist measurement however, as the skirt sits lower on the hip. A size 8 will measure 75cm around the top band increasing to 95cm for a size 16.

Trellick & Traffic

Trellick/Traffic skirts are more fitted though also are designed to sit lower rather than around the belly button level. Typically a size 8 will measure 75cm around the top band, a size 10=78.5cm, size 12=84.5cm, size 14=90cm, size 16=94.5cm, size 18=100cm and size=20 104.5cm. Do bear in mind this is a completed size and so when measuring yourself you want to add a bit more for what we call ease (I think of it as 'breathe!')
